With the start of school less than a week away for some districts, parents, and even students may want to assess how they are doing and how they may faire in the upcoming grade.

EDUSS (www.eduss.com/parents), an internationally-recognized provider of educational software for school and home, is offering free software: a downloadable assessment tool and educational package within the reach of any parent with access to a computer. (www.virtualpressoffice.com)

This is a good tool at anytime during the school year to see your childs progress and maybe point out some trouble spots to discuss with his/her teacher
